World Water Day and Water Justice Forum March 22-24, 2017

Hosted by the Iliff School of Theology 2323 E. Iliff Avenue, Denver

Co-sponsors include: Colorado Interfaith Power and Light, Eco-Justice Ministries, Colorado Council of Churches, and the Episcopal Church of Colorado

Water is life. Protecting water resources in Colorado and worldwide is a must. So is access to clean water and facing the challenges of drought, flooding, pollution, and rising sea levels. Join with others who care to hear outstanding state, national, and international speakers and engage in group discussion from environmental, food, civic, and religious perspectives.

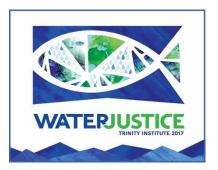

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22 (11:30am - 5:00pm)

Thomas Wolfe, CEO & President, Iliff School of Theology
Ved Nanda, Vice Provost, Marsh Professor of Law, U. of Denver
Bill Kellogg, Vice President, UN Association Boulder County Chapter
John Stulp, Special Policy Advisor to the Governor for Water
Taryn Finnessey, Senior Climate Change Specialist, Colo. Water Cons. Board
Greg Hobbs, Jr., Senior Water Judge, Colorado Courts; Co-director of the Environmental and Natural Resources Law Program DU Law
Jorge Figueroa, Sr. Water Policy Analyst, Western Resource Advocates

THURSDAY- FRIDAY, MARCH 23-24 (8:15am – 3:30pm)

Participants will view presentations by speakers at the Trinity Institute's international Water Justice Conference in New York City via live-streaming and webcast delay, followed by locally-facilitated group discussion. Trinity Institute is an affiliate of Trinity Wall Street [Episcopal] Church in NYC.

Barbara Boxer, U.S. Senator (California, 1993-2017), national environmental advocate

Maude Barlow, int'l. water justice advocate and best-selling author Christiana Peppard, theologian (Fordham University) and author Thabo Makgoba, Archbishop, St. George's Cathedral, Cape Town, South Africa

Katharine Hayhoe, climate scientist (Texas Tech) and author Winston Halapua, Archbishop & Primate, Diocese of Polynesia and Aotearoa, New Zealand

To register, go to https://actionnetwork.org/ticketed_events/water-justice-forum_The Forum starts with lunch on Wednesday, March 22nd. Daily fee: $25, including light lunch and reception; three-day fee, $60. Students: $8 per day. Additional gifts are encouraged!

For a detailed agenda and background information, go to http://www.iliff.edu/the-latest/world-water-justice-forum. If you need more information, the Water Forum Coordinator is David Carlson (dcarlson@iliff.edu). Dr. Carlson is also the Convener of the monthly Ethics and Ecological Economics (EEE) Forum at Iliff. Or, contact Rev. Tina Yankee – Colorado Interfaith Power and Light and Colorado Council of Churches – at yankee.tina@gmail.com, 720.290.3388.