Energy Innovation and Carbon Dividend Act A BILL

Be it enacted...
The Internal Revenue
Code of 1986 is amended by adding......

1. Achieve net-zero greenhouse gas emissions through a fair and just transition for all communities and workers;

2. Create millions of good, high-wage jobs; and ensure prosperity and economic security for all people of the United States;

3. Invest in the infrastructure and industry of the United States to sustainably meet the challenges of the 21st century;

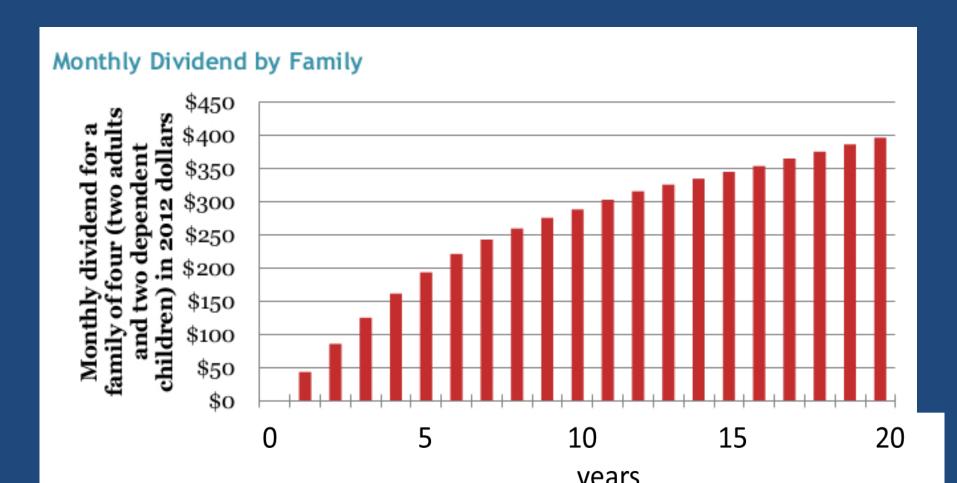

4. Secure clean air and water, climate and community resilience, healthy food, access to nature, and a sustainable environment for all;

Biggest employment gains are in health care, retail, and other services (excluding public administration). This is because people have more money in their pockets to spend, and these industries are laborintensive, responding to increased consumer spending by creating more jobs. In addition, this policy will improve health and save lives by reducing pollution that Americans breathe.

5. Promote justice and equity by stopping current, preventing future, and repairing the historic oppression of frontline and vulnerable communities.

For most families, the dividend is larger than increased costs
